GIFTS IN ACTION

It Takes a Village: Caring

At 13, Elizabeth became pregnant by an older man in her community — then he abandoned her. Her parents were left to support both Elizabeth and her baby, unsure how to help her move forward. Elizabeth often argued with her mother, sometimes running away. She was judged by classmates and teachers, and eventually dropped out of school.

Elizabeth’s mother, Julia, turned to her church fellowship, where she was connected with Evelyne, an Early Childhood Development (ECD) community volunteer — and Care for Mothers and Newborns. Evelyne was facilitating caregiver support groups, topical classes and in-home visits to mothers of young children to teach nurturing care. After hearing Elizabeth’s story, she encouraged Julia to enroll her daughter in the program.

At first, Elizabeth was reluctant, but in time, she leaned into the program. There she found a space to express herself, heal from what had happened to her, and build knowledge that would guide her in her new role as mother.

Now 15, she is a confident and knowledgeable mother who shares what she’s learned with others. She advises peers on positive discipline, play and caring for young children. At home, she enjoys making toys for her son and playing with him after school.

“I am no longer scared,” says Elizabeth. “I feel empowered and encouraged to face the world head-on and be the best mother I can be.”
